

Marianne Galang

Marianne Galang is a clinical dietitian at the Center for Human Nutrition, Digestive Disease Institute at the Cleveland Clinic. She is both a Registered Dietitian and a Board Certified Specialist in Oncology Nutrition. She completed both her undergraduate degree and her internship at Ohio State University. Marianne has been a contributor to several ASPEN publications to include

Among honors as well as nominations for awards, she received the Clinical Excellence Award at Cleveland Clinic in 2015. Marianne has been a sought after speaking over the past several years especially with regards to NFPE. Publications include ASPEN's illustrated handbook on NFPE as well as chapter author for ASPEN's Adult Nutrition Support Core Curriculum on malnutrition screening and assessment. She has supported research on standardizing the assessment of malnutrition risk in the clinical setting.